The Last Hurrah

Do you remember?
Cheers intent on winning
A roaring stadium full of anticipation
Overwhelming enthusiasm
Banners hopeful of a victory
A moment that was never forgotten.
Cardinal courage, a deep devotion
To that good ole Red and White.

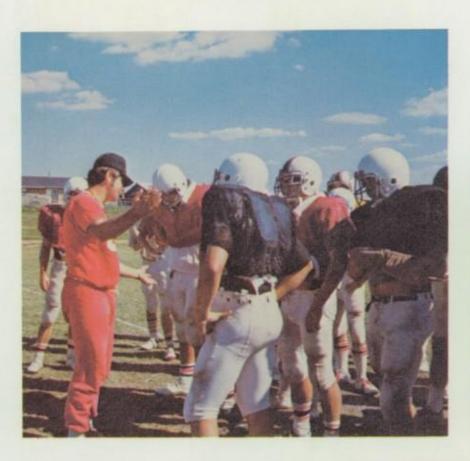

The Good Guys And The Bad Guys

Security of people's voices, I heard them every day A feeling of assurance had always come my way Our special group, our get togethers, my friends and all the gang

In many words it can be said, how this year was a bang.

But most of all as we know the times that had most meaning

Was during "Fortune's" greatest hour as on a friend we're leaning.

Born Free

A gust of wind finds its way to a fallen leaf, lying purposefully in its path

For it has a destiny, that small, seemingly insignificant piece of foliage does have a purpose. The weathered parchment has waited patiently for this moment.

Like us it is given wings, airborne in the presence of a fresh new awareness of life.

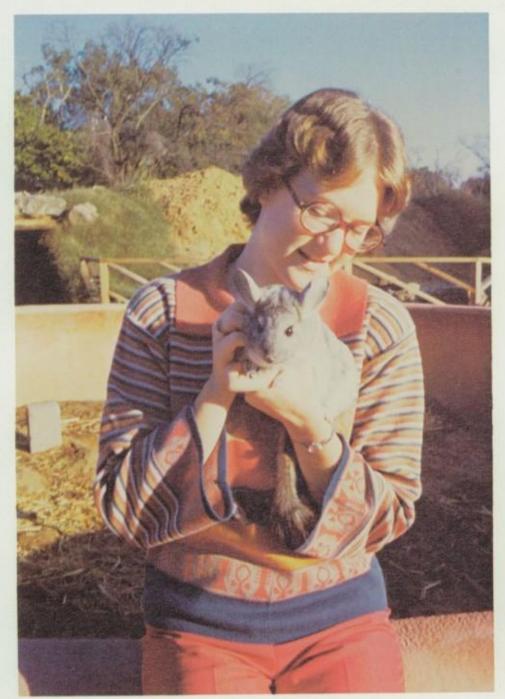

Bless The Beasts And The Children

School isn't just in the classrooms.

Think of all the other things to do . . .

Sign the sheet,

Join the clubs,

Get invited and meet after school.

Spirit ribbons - 25 cents,

F.H.A. makes for better future mothers.

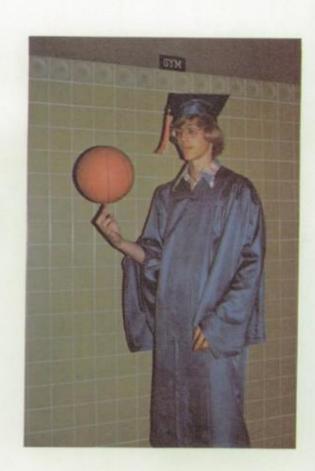

All those big red balloons the Pep Clubbers blew up.

Witches . . . Can Can girls . . .even Dracula showed up at the French Club Halloween party.

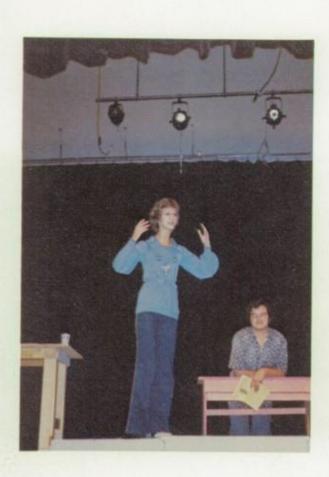

Summer Wishes, Winter Dreams

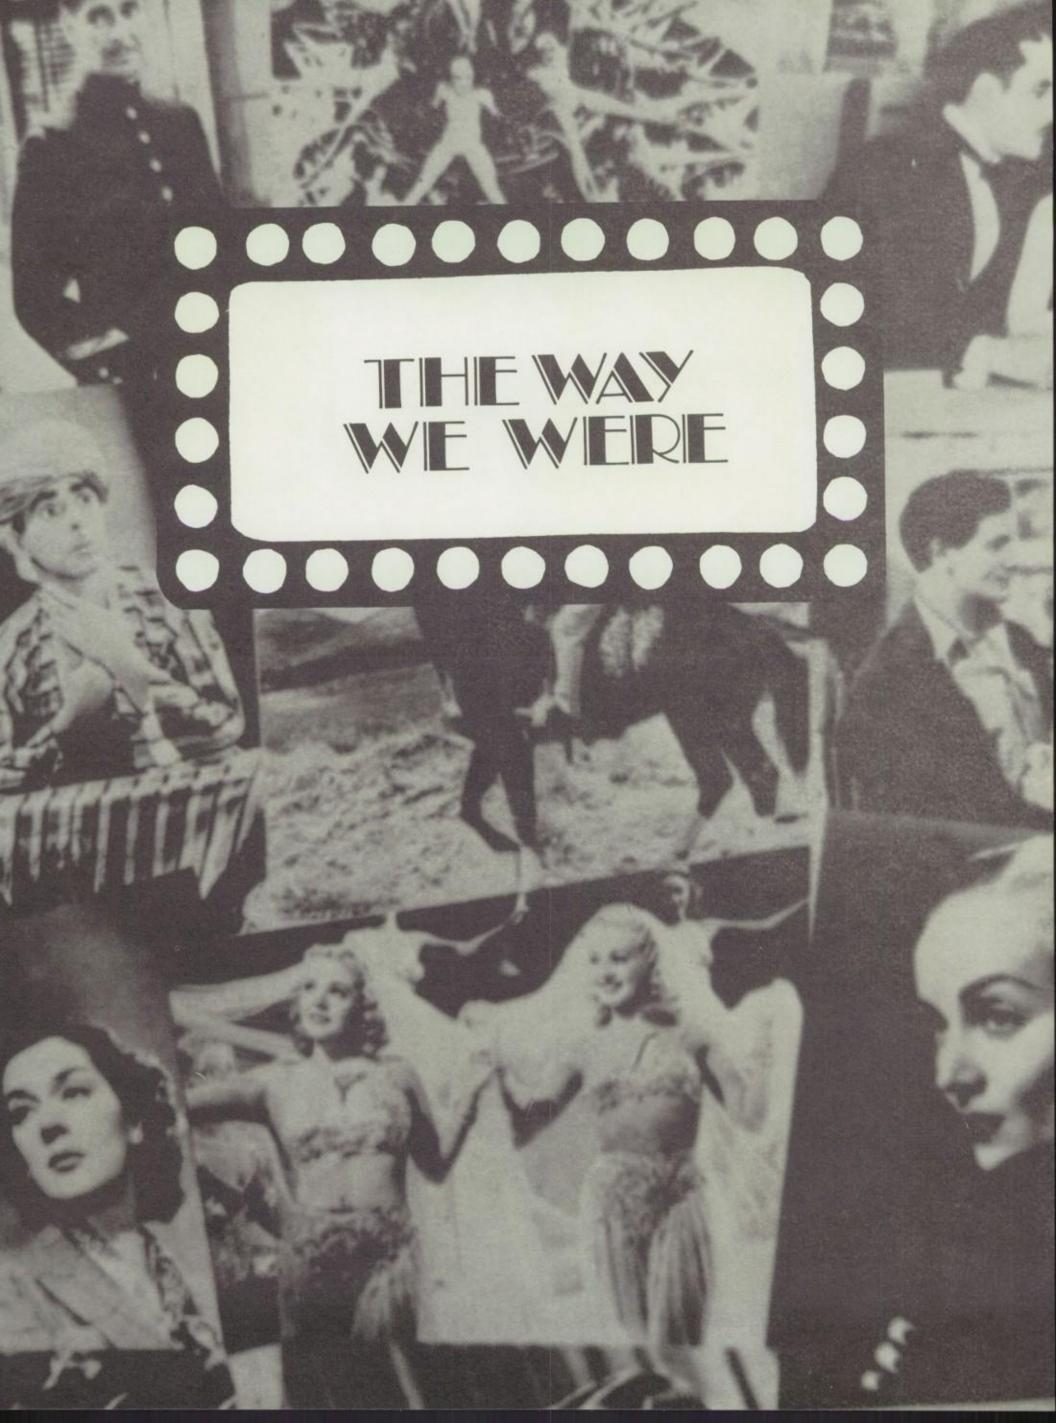

To dream new dreams
To fulfill long cherished ones,
Choosing our own path
Down life's way
Life's frontier-ours to explore.
Will our achievements here
Be left as memories
Or will they contribute to our future?
So many decisions lie ahead
Ending one beginning
Starting another—

These three years have come and gone So quickly now it seems.

For some the years will still go on, For others, only dreams.

This is a time, proud and sad,

At the close of our last high school year.

A time to remember the good times we had,

As our future quickly draws near.

Is this the beginning, or is this the end?

Of what will I do with my life?

Will I gain a partner, or true friend,

Or even a husband or wife?

I've been a Cardinal, strong and true,
I know I have succeeded
To achieve the things I set out to do,
With the help of friends I've needed.

Sophomore's Philosophy On E.C.?

"Somehow all the juniors and seniors know you're a sophomore, like the time you fell going up the stairs; the word "sophomore" rang through the halls immediately. But along with the not-so-good times, there are some wonderful times: the first football game, and the sense of belonging. You're just one voice in a crowd of cheers, but you are an individual...This year in high school, you've matured greatly, but that little bit of sophomore will remain inside you forever." - Terry Beach-

"I'm really going to miss not being a sophomore next year. This year everything seems so bright and new, and I'm afraid that the brightness and newness of it all will tarnish and then what fun would it be?" - Nancy Warburton-

"It always seems that sophomores get caught more easily than juniors or seniors: like leaving class early or riding the elevator without a pass, but I guess that's because they've had more experience." - Jill Hodges-

> Class Of 1979

"Sophomores may be green, but nature's first green is golden...God, grant me the serenity to accept those things I cannot change." - Kelly Peterson-

"It's almost a disappointment when being chased by seniors through the halls, being thrown into the girls' bathroom, and things like that don't really happen." - Roger Tucker-

"Just making new friends and seeing new faces outweighs any disadvantages in the sophomore year...! haven't found many disadvantages, but with all that talk of "being a sophomore," there must be something lurking around the corner." - Stan Goodchild-

"Juniors and seniors think they're real neat trying to sell us little innocent sophomores elevator keys that don't work...we're defenseless against the juniors and seniors!" - Kelly Calhoun-

"When it's time for assemblies the sophomores are the last to be dismissed and when lunch time comes around, who's got permission to leave? Well, not the sophomores, they have to eat "army food!"

-Kay Arkison-

"Since I've come to East Central, most of the seniors have been really nice to me. Many juniors have too!...I think the juniors and seniors of E. C. are what makes this school so great." -Randy Clay-

"This year was a lucky one for me. I didn't meet any of the older guys who had spray cans up their sleeves or a bush especially reserved with my name on it...sometimes you'll be trying to hurry to class because you are almost late. All of a sudden, someone sticks their feet out and trips you, causing a commotion. The halls are so crowded you wouldn't even know who-dunnit...I guess it's nice to be a sophomore, but I sure would be a whole lot more comfortable if I were a junior right now."

-Ron Bender-

"I sure like senior high better than junior high because it is so different. Well, I guess the juniors and seniors are used to it by now, and that's why they act like they know it all." -Marilyn Martin-

"The work involved in your sophomore year makes ninth grade look like kindergarten work." -Robin Perkins-

"I'm not prejudiced, but I think our class is the best yet, and I'm sure we will prove ourselves."

-Ellen Young-

Dr. Larry L. Zenke

Board of Education

Dr. Larry L. Zenke brightened the horizon of Tulsa education this year when he was appointed Superintendent of Schools and began his administrative duties on October 4. An impressive array of school experiences accompanied the new superintendent: those of classroom teacher, principal, administrative intern, and Director of Elementary Education.

Working with a seven member Board of Education, Dr. Zenke faced such problems as school financing, enrollment and boundaries, curriculum, maintenance: all phases pertaining to Tulsa's 104 schools in the system.

"Lights, Camera, Action" -

These three words have probably been called out in the film studios in the production of millions of feet of celluoid pictures that have recorded for future generations the plays, books, news events and dreams of our times. These same three words might be a guideline that we might apply to our everyday life of now and the future. As this 1977 yearbook has utilized the principle of the camera to record the highlights and events of this past school year, I am sure that each of you will search through its pages to find events that were important to you this year and will be pleased to find your picture or name left imprinted on its pages for future generations. I trust that the enlightenment that you have received in your training and educational pursuits will fulfill your needs and equip you to reach your life goals and that in these coming years, you will have the pleasure of seeing your skills converted into action so that your life and the lives of your loved ones and our great nation will be better served because of the training, teachings and activities captured in this yearbook that you may open it in later years and recall your mental "Flicks and Flashbacks" of your years at East Central High School.

Strolling the halls in a good 'ole mood, Mr. Payne and Mr. Smith pause for the camera.

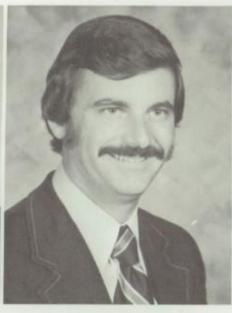

Assistant Principals

George Dorsch

Larry Smith

Bill Stephens

Since we're on our way to being one of the biggest schools in town, we added another Assistant Principal this year, Mr. Bill Stephens, in charge of Attendance and Supervision. And it's pretty hard to put one over on him. Mr. Stephens has been a Cardinal for 13 years, starting 1964 as History teacher, basketball and baseball coach. Chalk him up with two basketball conference championships. Then he became a counselor and his strategy changed from "That's not right, Ref!" to "Why aren't vou in class!" Now he's a principal and he knows why you're not in class. Mr. Dorsch, in charge of Curriculum, and Mr. Smith, heading Student Activities, round out the school's administrative staff in conjunction with Mr. Payne, to keep the Cardinal wheels rolling.

Assistant Principals George Dorsch and Larry Smith stay in close communication to keep students and curriculum synchronized.

"Now, isn't that a better schedule?" persuades Counselor Sammie Kendall.

Art

Careers or Creativity?

Art students explore both avenues from many classes offered: Basic Art, Commercial Art, Silk Screen, and Advanced Art, Painting and Composition. Among other activities, Basic Art students learn Old English, lettering and illustrating a poster. Commercial Art students work with advertising, interior and industrial design. They organize a portfolio of their work to present to employers, universities, or art institutes. Silkscreen students explore stenciling techniques ranging from paper to glue and specially prepared films, to photo-silkscreening. Advanced Art students work with jewelry casting and construction and with throwing pots on the potter's wheel.

Music

What's a picture show without background music? That's what East Central would be without instrumental and vocal music to provide excitement and beauty in the background of our lives. It's a lot of work, though, for band, orchestra, and choral students as they spend hours in solo and group practice, getting ready for public performances, both at East Central and out-of-city contests.

Virginia Erbert is shown rehearsing her vocal students in their successful productions at E.C. this year.

Terry Hartman watches and listens as he prepares a student for contest.

Business

Ten teachers cover a range of business subjects from beginning typing and shorthand, Law and Accounting to advanced actual on-the-job training, which is supervised by Lu Spybuck, head of the Cooperative Office Education program. Speed and spelling: both are emphasized. First year typists learn the keyboard and then push up to 50 words per minute. Second year students try for 80 as they type business letters and manuscripts. Shorthand students strive for speeds up to 100 w.p.m., working from tapes, transcribing and typing letters in mailable form. Charles Dreas joined the staff this year as Basic Business and Business Math and Records teacher.

Sophomores struggle with a theme for poetry notebooks as the creative highlight of their year.
For the juniors, it's . . . Drugs? Einstein? Space Flight? . . . how to choose a researchable topic for a research paper. Seniors continued the option of choosing two elective classes. Special interest of the year for all classes was the romantic film, Romeo and Juliet. Tony Jackson assumed the department chairmanship of English this year. New teachers included Joanne Fielding, Ilth and I2th grade, and Betty Baranoff, reading teacher.

Florence Schupbach explains her approach to Spanish with audio visual material to former student Vicki Goodwin.

Foreign Language

"Whoever is not familiar with foreign languages knows nothing of his own." This statement is known to be true by all foreign language students, whether German, Greek, French, or Spanish. Under the direction of "Herr Schulte", German students learn translations and have vocabulary quizzes from Lekture. First year French students are introduced to "Madame Wright's" puppets, instead of translating right away. During the course of the year, French classes have cheese tasting parties, learn French games and learn of the French civilization. December is a special month for Spanish students when they learn Christmas songs. They have tapes of native Spanish speakers and like to play Spanish games. Greek is the new language at East Central this year, taught by Mr. Owen.

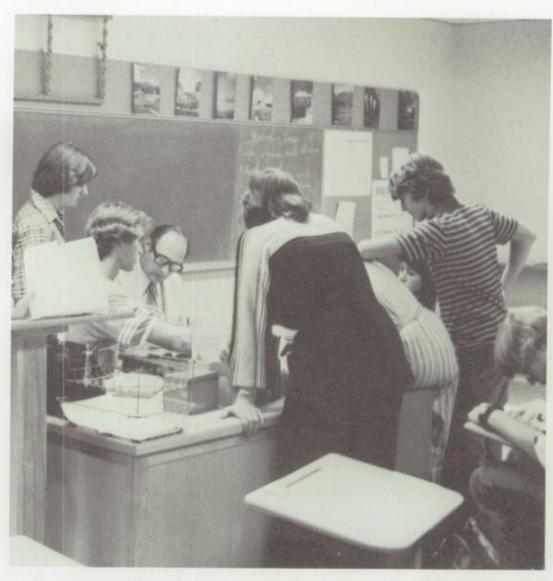

Debbie Reese, Dana Sehested, Robert Gruenberg, and Jan Wilhelm compare notes in Herr Schulte's German class.

Journalism

Excitement was created in Publications this year, as the school paper Tale Feathers was launched under the direction of Judy Klenda.

The paper had it all: ads, pictures, five columns, four pages of professional printing and lively copy. The Cardinal yearbook carried more color than ever before, with an "At the Movies" theme which surprised a lot of Cardinal students, according to sponsor Jan Armstrong. Photographers Mark Shelby, Mike Sparr, Lisa Freire and Mac Senter spent a lot of personal time covering events from sports to plays and coronations to give a full sweep of the year's activities at East Central.

Yearbook staffers get all excited about "Bob Welch Day," a visit from their representative.

Drama

Each year beginning drama students do new and exciting things. They put on a series of one-act plays to the English classes, learn the theory of acting, how to put on stage makeup, and all the acting principles. Advanced students go into extensive productions, contest work and children's shows. Scenery seen in the productions on stage is built and painted by two technical theater classes, which also do much lighting for the school productions. Mr. Blair, who heads the department, designs costumes, with assistance from his students in making them. Mr. Blair was commended last year when he was named, "Outstanding young speech teacher of the year" in Oklahoma.

Home Economics

What's the "New Image" in the Homemaking Department? That's you in your total environment: planning your future, choosing your career, establishing your family, balancing your budget in this day and age. A new teacher, Gloria Clifton, and new courses, Parenting and Consumer Economics, helped bring it all about. There were various ways and means: field trips to observe nurseries, banks, shopping centers, furniture and grocery stores. Business men and even babies visited the classroom to give perspectives from other walks of life.

A new Parenting class brings in the real thing as babies crawl around, loving the attention.

Industrial Arts

Now is the time, and Industrial Arts is the place to explore occupational interests before you tie yourself down to an 8 to 5 job. Office work isn't for everyone. The whirr of power machines and engines livens up the West Wing, where students are busy tuning up cars, repairing electrical equipment, or working on blueprints. Many students find permanent jobs as a result of experiences in Industrial Arts.

Mathematics

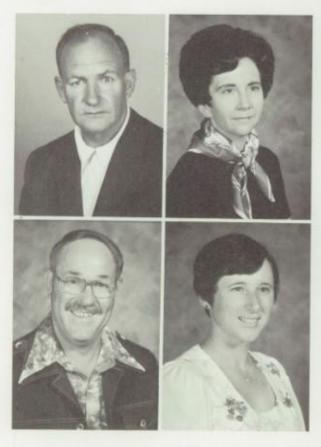

Did you know that there are some people in this world that actually like mathematics? We have at least eight of those people at East Central. Their job is to teach the rest of us to like it, or at least know how to do it. Mr. McCray is the head of this department, where some students rack their brains finding solutions to problems that are a page long. And why do they go to all this work? That is a question that has been asked time and time again. Here are some of the answers: logical reasoning, know-how to balance your bank account, figure out your income tax, even put a man on Mars someday! Due to growing interest and demand, the department has added two new members, Gail Broyles and James Sparks.

Jana Stinnett and Denise Helt seek extra help from Joe Clark, one of East Central's competent math teachers. Dee Dee Culpepper studiously completes her assignment.

Physical Education

The Physical Education Department started off with a bang this year - co-educational classrooms! For the first time girls and boys were allowed to join the same team, whether it was tennis, volleyball, or field hockey. There were times, though, when each did their own thing. Girls performed at the Tulsa Fair with gymnastics, some of them rhythmic, and volleyball. Boys still have priority on the rough and tumble sports like wrestling and flag football. Highlights of the year included the Tennis Sports Day in October and the Volleyball Sports Day in December. Harvey McDaniel joined the department to teach one hour of P.E. and to coach Girls' Basketball.

Science

Have you ever seen the inside of an earthworm? High school science is pretty advanced, with a sweep of learning from the individual to nature at large. Biology students dissect frogs, worms, and starfish, probing the secrets of internal organs and how they function. Of equal interest is a study of drugs, how they affect a person's mind and body, their street names and medical uses. Physiology presents a more advanced study of the human body. Department Chairman Pat Ward continued teaching his students Chemistry, along with "Elom's" help. Walt Lambert joined the staff to teach Biology.

One of East Central's favorite science teachers, Bob Taylor, reviews for a final test in Biology.

Social Studies

Research: This is what U.S. and World history students do a lot of as they work their way through cultures and customs - the Civil War, the rise and fall of ancient Rome, the wild, wild West, the battle of the Presidency. Did you vote for Carter in the mock election at E.C.? Psychology and Sociology students study why you are who you are. Simplified, that's the study of your mind in relation to your personality. And there's always the influence of society around you. The department added two new staff members, Randy Goodsell and Jim Shields, U.S. History teachers.

Coach Corbitt tells his World History students to "beware" of a test.

Special People

When it comes to references for the research paper, juniors have a way of calling on Librarian Doshie Loyd as often as their teachers; or if it weren't for Ron Bloom and Weldon Childress, how would sophomores ever get that driver's license? Specialists all over the building work in conjunction with teachers to help students along the path of Education: Merle Jacobs for Instructional Media, Margaret Byrd and Mel Martin for work related programs, Irene Bennett, school nurse, and Special Ed teachers Jan Richardson and Clarence Nails.

Virginia Dipboye holds a key position as Mr. Payne's secretary. New additions to the staff include Sharon Wilkerson, Secretary's Assistant, whose duties range from mail distribution to payroll, wherever she is needed; and Becky Freeman, teacher's aide, who took up headquarters in the teachers' lounge to supervise the complex new Xerox 2400 duplicating machine.

Student Council got off to a great start with lots of enthusiasm. Although a wide spread of acne covered the school, the candy sales brought in a great amount of money. With the coming of the Can Food Drive so did the challenge from HALE. With strength and determination, East Central squeezed by with a total exceeding Hale's by 3500 cans; ranking first in the Tulsa Public Schools. Each morning started at 7:40 with the creed reading which only half the students knew. Arkansas Blue Grass warmed us and the SWAP (Students with a Purpose) Shop gave us all wide ideas. In November, our officers bagged their way to Moore for State Convention eating left over candy bars all the way. Our pizza parties with rival school kept our night life well to do.

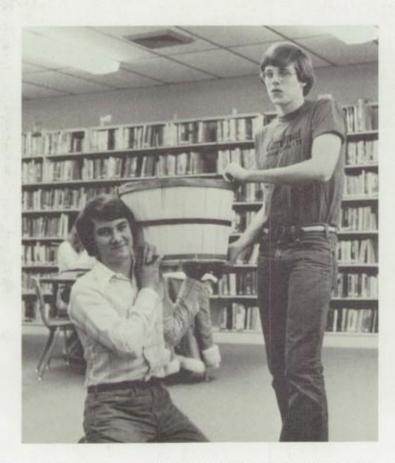

Melissa Freeman starts the morning meeting with her bright and radiant face.

National Honor Society,

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY MEMBERS NAMES APPEAR ON PAGES 86-87

Starring 239 Cast Members

National Honor Society is one of the largest and one of the most popular organizations at East Central. This year at our school, there was a total membership of 239 students. To become a member of this distinguished club, one must have a grade of 3.5 and a junior and an average of 3.25 as a senior to maintain membership. There are four main points of the National Honor Society; these are (1) Scholarship, (2) Leadership, (3) Citizenship, and (4) Loyalty. Every year the club is involved in many activities. This year N.H.S. visited North Tulsa Nursing Homes and greeted them with baskets of citrus fruit at Christmas time. For Easter, they visited the Children's Medical Center and brought baskets and hid Easter eggs.

Jan, Jean, Karen, Anita, and Terrie plan for the initiation.

N.H.S. Officers are: Pam Fields, Teresa Ryser, Chuck Foreman, Jim Zodrow, and Sponsor Mrs. Loyd.

Also this year, as every year, the National Honor Society will take their annual trip to Six Flags Over Texas in May. One of the high points in the year for N.H.S. is the big initiation of juniors into the club. This was done in November with the students' parents as guests. This year the guest speaker at the initiation was Mr. Don Woods, the weatherman from Channel 8. Mr. Woods shared with us a story of Christ done with the ever popular "Gusty." N.H.S. helped out the rest of the students and faculty by tutoring to the slower students in many subjects, and by assisting teachers in things like decorating bulletin boards, and giving curriculum suggestions. Officers of N.H.S. this year are Jim Zodrow-President, Chuck Foreman-Vice-President, Pam Fields-Secretary, and Teresa Ryser- Treasurer.

Instrumental Music has expanded to Marching Band, Symphonic, Jazz Ensemble, Concert Band, Orchestra, and Theory and Harmony, with over 185 students participating. The groups perform on assemblies, in parades, and at community functions. They compete in a State contest at O.U. and a District contest at Edison High School. One of the high points of the year is the election of Band Sweetheart. Miss Joan Weicht won the honors for 1977. Her attendants are Lisa Bayer, Dawn Summers and Lee Ann Stapleton. Joan was crowned at an assembly in her honor on February II, solemnly walking down the aisle to "March Processional." The year culminated with a spring show in May.

Concert Chorus

Concert Chorus is one of the outstanding performing groups at E.C., poised and familiar with the lights . . . action . . . applause sequence. Such productions as the Messiah, pop assemblies, two talent shows, Thanksgiving and Christmas assemblies, and singing for Vespers, the year's finale for the graduating seniors, are but part of their busy year. They also compete in district contests, and against each other to see who can sell the most oranges and grapefruit annually to help pay for the department's Grand Piano. The group also performs in two festivals: one at Thanksgiving in Stillwater, the other an area festival for feeder junior high schools.

CHORAL SWEETHEART: Center, Miss Sharon Panages

Choral Highlights

One of the most suspenseful events of the year among choral groups is the election of Choral Sweetheart and her attendants. The 1977 honoree ("You Ought to be in Pictures") is Miss Sharon Panages, with her attendants Paula Beehler and Shelly Conrad, Juniors, and Julie McClure, Sophomore. Advanced Mixed Chorus members are experienced singers who often perform in churches and assemblies with the Concert Chorus. Mixed Chorus is made up of students who have never had choir experience but like to sing. Members participate in pop assemblies, the Messiah, and the Spring Concert. They are learning to be musical "stars," learning to read music, singing different parts, and producing proper tones.

Choral Favorites

Glee Club Barber Shop Quartet

Under the direction of Virginia Erbert, Glee Club members are a performing group of treble voices who work with three and four part songs. "Lift Thine Eyes," "In the Still of the Night," and "Catch a Falling Star" are some of the favorites Glee presents. Barber Shop Quartet has been a smash success since two of the original group, David DeMoss and Terry Horn, brought the idea over from Lewis and Clark. Now a tradition at East Central, Barber Shop Quartet also performs at outside functions, including a guest appearance on "TV School Highlights" recently.

Spanish Club

On December 19, Spanish club broke a colorful pinata at their annual Christmas party. Throughout the year, the club learns more about Spanish customs and the culture of Spanish-speaking countries by visiting Spanish restaurants for dinner and also preparing a Spanish breakfast. The club serves our community by visiting nursing homes and selling brightly colored paper flowers to raise money to buy shoes for needy children. Guest speakers, Spanish games and songs, as well as challenging other clubs in various sports are a few of the activities which Spanish Club participates in.

German Club

Members gather 'round to practice for caroling at the nursing homes.

This year German Club began its activities with a wiener roast and a trip to the zoo. In November there was a football game among the rival clubs: French and German. At Christmas time we went to a nursing home and sang Christmas songs in German, then celebrated the holiday with a party. In the spring we enjoyed our annual international dinner in which the French, Spanish, and German clubs participated.

FCA

We all had fun this year. Christmas caroling in the winter weather, and especially at the Christmas party afterwards. Taking candy to the children at the Children's Medical Center and having a hayride were just a few things that we have done during the year. Maybe the "tuffest" thing was trying to find a sponsor for our FCA group. We have had a lot of guidance this year from a number of sponsors. One of our sponsors is Coach Dan Crookham. Although he left teaching at East Central last year, he came back every week from Locust Grove to sponsor us. But we needed a sponsor in the school, and although he wasn't sure at first, Coach Shields took up the job of sponsor. We have also had a lot of support from Coach Smittle who has helped us through most of our meetings with a lot of guidance. It is quite a year to remember and it is sure all FCA members will remember . . . Colossians 4:6.

The Clown Troupe strikes again!

The International Thespian Society is an honorary organization which aims to promote theater arts in secondary schools.

Our Thespian Troupe here at East Central High School has a total of thirty members who have earned Thespian points by participating in school productions. Each year at the annual Thespian Club Banquet, awards are given to the Best Actor and Actress and Best Technician.

Our officers this year are Judy Wright, president; Jeannie Morrissey, vice-president; Brenda Davis, secretary-treasurer; and Ellen Riley, historian.

Scuba Club

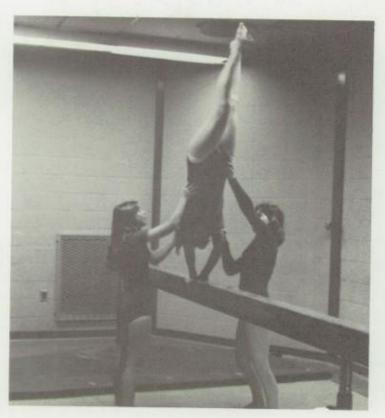

Scuba club is an organization designed to promote scuba diving and water safety. East Central is the first public school in Oklahoma to sponsor a Scuba club. The sponsor of our club is Mr. Hagar McClain. This year there have been five classes of ten students. Each graduated from their class with pride. There is also going to be a group trip to Central America this summer.

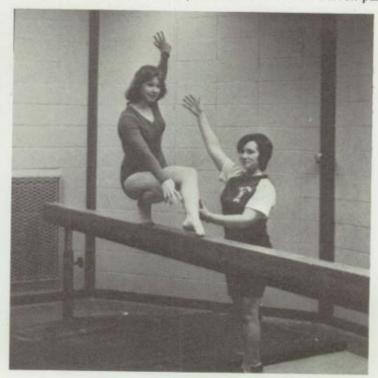

Kips started the year off by performing at the Tulsa State Fair. They demonstrated such things as dancing, rhythmic gymnastics, and gymnastics. They were at the same time filmed and put on cable t.v. Talents were also demonstrated by performing before a wrestling match, this time adding tumbling to their program. Kips meets every Tuesday and Thursday after school with Coach Penny Thomas, who is also the coach of the All-city champion E.C. Jockettes. Kips practice on their gymnastics skills, hopefully for the High School Gymnastrada. Kips is for anyone who likes to perform gymnastics or dance, whether they compete or not.

The pep club started the year off on the right foot by signing up over a hundred members, so many in fact, that we could not possibly name them all. The pep club, together with its officers and the cheerleaders were able to keep the spirit at E.C. at its peak by doing such activities as baking cookies for the players, filling stockings for the wrestlers, and having a breakfast for the basketballers: not to mention the many signs and posters plastered all over the walls for a little extra touch. Carmel apples, relays, and obstacle courses made the pep assemblies real "sweet" although they did have their "bitter" moments when one carmel apple turned out to be an onion. The pep club proved how much spirit E. C. has.

5 excellent ribbons and the UCA Spirit Stick proved East Central cheerleaders were the BEST at camp.

Remember me through the year, the eight bubbling faces that tried hard to cheer. Your victories turned our gray skies clear, And being defeated brought us nights with tears.

We showed you all, what at camp we learned, And all the excellent ribbons that we earned.

I'm sure that you'll remember the fun we had, And the obsurd pyramids made everyone glad.

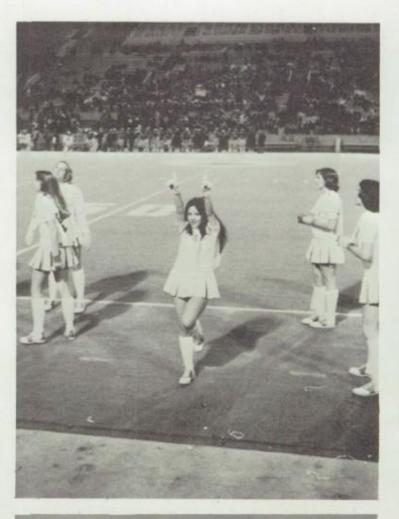

We cheered on our football boys in the rain, But spirit in the crowd was mostly our aim.

At the wrestling matches we pounded on the mat, Watching our man pin his opponent flat.

Industrial Cooperative Education, a work program for school students, is headed up by Mel Martin. Students spend a minimum of 20 hours per week learning a trade or occupation which will enable them to continue working full time in the field after graduation. Auto Mechanics, Dental Technician, Photography are just a few of the job training opportunities I.C.E. has to offer.

C.O.E. students learn how to apply for a job, how to get along with people, proper job attitudes, the application of English and mathematics to business, record keeping, clerical machine operation, telephone and mail communication techniques, filing procedures, duplication methods and machines, office management, and use and care of office equipment. Charm, good grooming, social graces, and personal qualities are also stressed. The student is constantly striving to build skill in typewriting and in transcription.

Chess Club

Chess Club members, the early birds of the campus, meet at 7 a.m. every Friday to pit brains over the boards and socialize.

Sponsored by Mr. Reedy, tournaments include the Four State Area tournament in Neosho, Missouri, and hot inter-school competition. Earl Logan is President, Larry Highberger, Vice President, and Fred Parker, Treasurer.

Library Club

Library Club, sponsored by Librarian Doshie Loyd, serves an important purpose to the students and teachers of East Central. Members keep records and circulate materials, check out books, shelve, and come to think of it, answer countless questions. It's a worthwhile club for members, for while the juniors and seniors help maintain the E.C. library, they gain a knowledge of libraries that will be helpful to them in the future. In addition to the work schedule, Library Club also has fellowship meetings, featuring doughnuts, small talk, and "sock it to me" sessions on the errors which were made.

Mu Alpha Theta

Mu Alpha Theta is a club that is something rather special to its members. To get into this club you have to have had or presently be taking Intermediate Algebra; then to be initiated into Mu Alpha Theta you have to play a rather unusual game. This game consists of students working ou problems on posters around the school. When you find the answer to one problem, it tells you which one to go to next. This club has meetings with students giving talks on such things as "Infinite Series" and "Pythegorean Triples". Every year Mu Alpha Theta has guest speakers rom colleges and takes field trips to the T.U. Math Department to study the computers.

Art Club

Art Club is a group of students interested in learning more about this area. These students are given the opportunity to try new experiences not available in other classes. They are involved in service projects for the school as well as projects for personal enjoyment. Various activities include trips to city museums, exchange meetings with other Tulsa Art Clubs, room murals, and silkscreening. This class is open to any students of E.C. The Art Club meets of Wednesday afternoons in E-302 at 2:55.

Afro American

Now well established at E.C., Afro American members meet weekly to promote black heritage and talk over current integration problems. Dirt Bike

Sponsored by Mr. John Dial, Dirt Bike Club members usually have their meetings on Saturdays so that all can find out about the coming races. Enthusiastic riders share trucks and trailers, so everyone can go for rides on different trails or to races, watch and learn about mistakes other people make, so they don't repeat the same mistakes. The purpose of the Dirt Bike club is to take the local acers off the streets and get them involved in dirt racing, and trying to prove that dirt biking is a clean sport - as well as thrilling.

Journalism class members learn the arts associated with newspaper journalism. These skills include composition of news stories, features, columns, editorials, cartoons and ads. Fundamentals of news page layout and design are also necessary skills in the production of a newspaper. Employing the techniques necessary for off-set printing processes, the students learn many technical skills as well. The Cardinal TALE FEATHERS is entered into several collegiate and local competitions, wherein attention to detail in all phases of newspaper production are judged with a careful eye.

Sponsor Judy Klenda and Editor Karen Phillips plan the December ads for Tale Feathers.

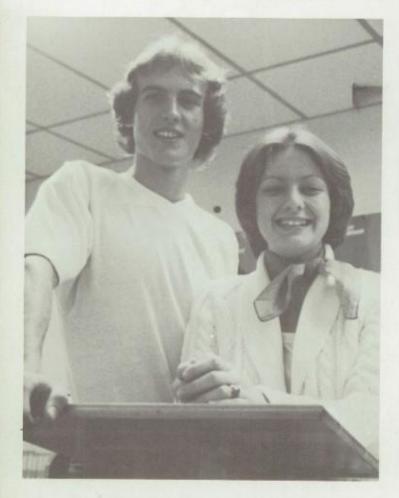

"Having the ability to put down a moment in words is a rare talent for one to have. A group of diligent hard-working students formed East Central's first active paper staff. The efforts were tremendous, and the majority of the class really tried; they really wanted to make a go of it."—TIM KINCAID "I've met new people, not only the journalism staff members, but also the community business people and advertisers. Through them, I feel like I've entered at least in a small way into the world of business and the world beyond school."—KAREN PHILLIPS

"We are more than a class, we've been a team. Our individual talents blend together to compile one talent: producing a successful paper." —CINDY WARD

Chuck Parrish swims for a first down against Central.

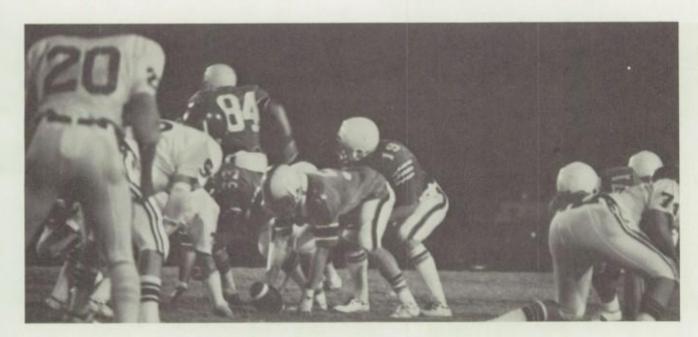

Senior Quarterback Chuck Parrish fades back for a pass against McLain.

Big Red "O" on the move.

13th In State

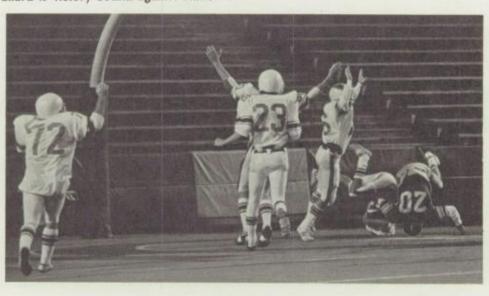

Senior Russ Claghorn goes in motion against Edison.

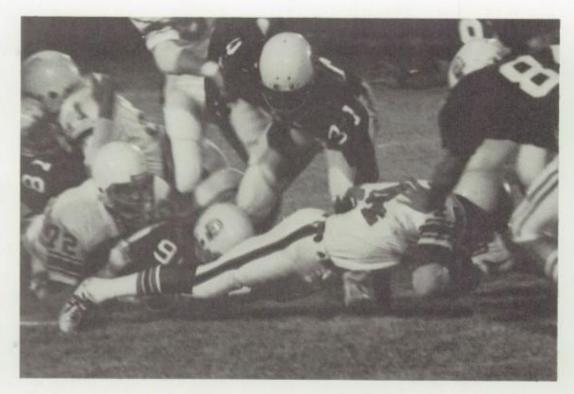

First year head coach Larry Ballard is victory bound against Hale, 7-6.

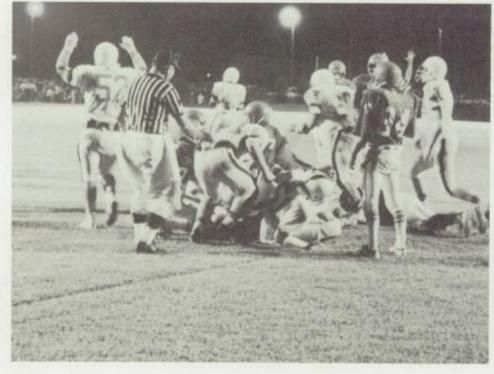

3rd in conference, I3th in state, holding 3-a-days during the summer, the hard work showed through. Starting the season against the Rangers of Hale, EC's strong defense held the Rangers to 6 points, and on a fantastic punt return by Jerry Crawford, snatched the victory for the Cardinals. As the season went on the Cards showed their spirit by beating McLain, and Rogers, both tough conference teams. With the Junior Varsity losing only one game this year, against Muskogee, finishing with an outstanding I3 wins I loss record, EC's future looks outstanding. Good luck, Coach Larry Ballard, for succussful years to come, as EC's head coach. We all appreciate your hard work.

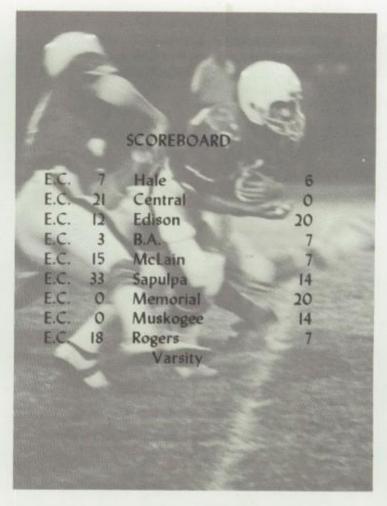

B.Y.A. team puts it on the Ropers with super punt coverage.

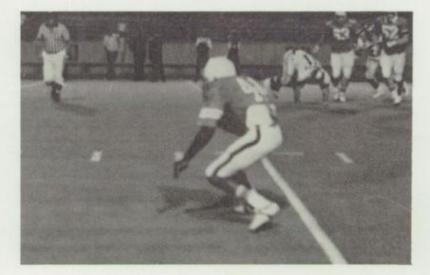

Cecil Pettigrew dives for extra yardage against Sapulpa.

Tom Cravens, the "Mighty Midget" puts six more on the scoreboard.

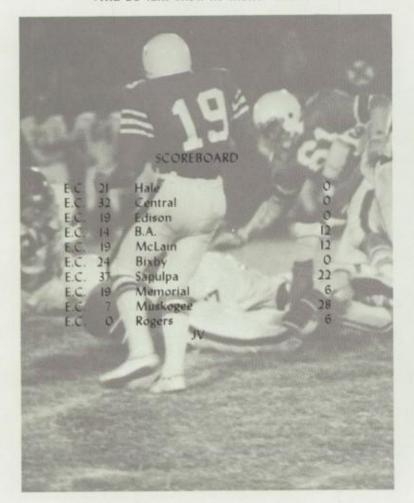

Senior Cecil Pettigrew has the Rangers running in circles.

Senior Mark Kuhn shoots between two flying Eagles in route to a 60-59 victory in the All-City Tournament.

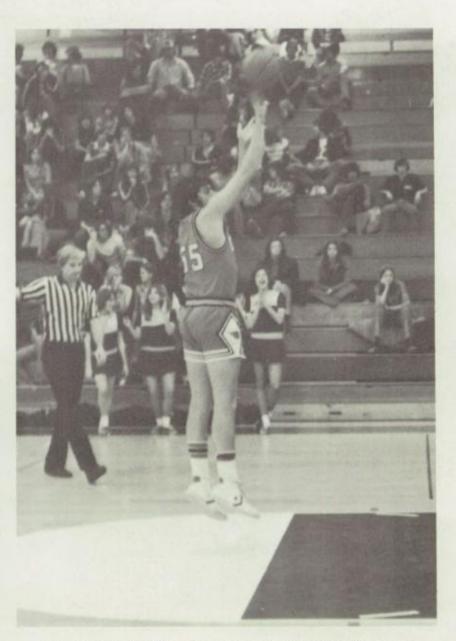

Dwight Holdman hits a freethrow against tough conference foe Muskogee.

The fighting Cards hit the boards in losing effort against the Ropers.

Basketball

Another successful season for the fighting basketballers: We played well at times and very bad at times, but it seemed we came through in the clutch. Taking third in the Putnam City West Tournament in Oklahoma City by defeating the Putnam City West in overtime and the Putnam City Pirates, boosted us to ninth in the State. We also snatched the consolation championship in the All-City Tournament. Finishing only fifth in conference, we defeated tough conference foes Muskogee, McLain, and Broken Arrow, and we were defeated by only two points in four overtimes by Memorial, at the Memorial gym. With Dwight "Whitey" Holdman leading the scoring attack, and Mark Kuhn right behind him, we surprised the pre-season polls with a 12 wins-II loss record, going into regionals. A special thanks goes to the fighting Cardinals Fans for sticking right behind us all the way, and also to second year head coach Rodger Lefler for keeping our heads on straight.

Senior Mark "RAC" Kuhn shoots a freethrow against Hale at Hale.

All-City Consolation

Senior Bruce Kastelic looks for a pass in an All-City Victory.

Coach Rodger Lefler sets the stage in a close-one against Edison.

Junior "Whitey" Holdman sets up the offense.

Bruce Kastelic hits two more points for another Cardinal All-City victory.

Dwight Holdman lays in a fieldgoal off another EC fastback.

Senior Jeff Forrester takes a shot against the Mason Patriots in the All-City Tournament Finals.

Golf

Golf, the aristocrat of sports at East Central, got off with a big swing this year. Two year coach Tom Langham's golfers are mostly returning seniors from last year's successful team. Golfers Tim Kincaid, Phil Vanderdool, Randy Dulaney, and Mark Miller, to name a few "Arnold Palmers", all know what long hours of practice can ring. Come rain, sleet or snow, you can always find this dedicated group of clubbers putting away on a local golf course.

The Cardinal Staff

Memories. . . This is what the 1977 yearbook staff has sought to compose: things I am, things I will be, and we the seniors of the Cardnal Staff would like to start out by expressing our sorrow over the loss of Mr. Zachary. His accomplishments will be felt at East Central for years to come. We will remember him and miss him. To Mrs. Lloyd we say farewell. Her 20 years of hard, dedicated work and her willingness to help others has encouraged students to find and reach their goals. And now we take time to say all our thank-you's to: Ms. Armstrong, the lady behind it all pushing us to reach our deadlines. Kelly Lawrence, in charge of Organizations: without her hard work, there would be a lot of empty pages in the book. Jeff "Lurch" Forrester, head of Sports: his efforts and ideas made the sport pages what they are. To Lea Ann Parks, her constant worrying got the Opening section out on time and beautifully. To Mark Bowers and Paul Carter, their writing was sensational. To Gail Vickers, our typist. She kept cool while everyone else was frantic. To Monnie Webb, her secton was one of the most creative yet. To Terry Waker and Leslie Hunt, the Senior section turned out to be well worth the headaches. To our photographers, Mark Shelby, Mike Sparr, and Lisa Freire, we had them running all year long. To the Juniors, Mike Moose, Terri Marrs, Jeannette Blosch, Barbara Young, Vicki Shepherd, Tanya Roberson and Elaine Paul, who ran the errands, typed and counted copy and scheduled pictures, we leave next year to you. To Bob Welch, our representative, who was always there when we needed him, a special thanks. And to you East Central High School, we say good-bye, for you have helped to make these years the best three years of our lives.
